

Suppressor Cases

Flambeau INC. is outfitting the ruggedly designed Aegis 7 (Suppressor 7) and Aegis 13 (Suppressor 13) cases with a new high heat resistant foam interior supplied by BASF[®], with the specific use of storing /transporting firearm suppressors.

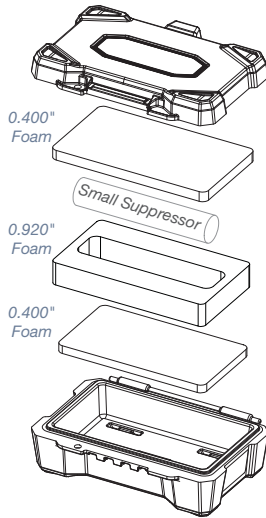

Flambeau successfully tested its proprietary foam with steel tubes and bars heated up to 500° F. Both case and foam function and perform beyond specifications. This storage solution safely protects your costly suppressor accessories during transport and storage.

Features the Suppressor 7 and Suppressor 13 cases share include rugged design, thick double walls, snap-fit latches, locking points, steel pin hinge construction and heat resistant foam specifically configured for either small or large suppressor sizes. The Suppressor 13 includes an integral handle for easy carry.

The Aegis Case Line

The Aegis case line is one of Flambeau's newest families of blow molded cases. Available in seven different sizes, Aegis cases all feature a rugged design, thick double walls, snap-fit latches, steel pin hinge construction, and stackability, and each can stand upright on two feet. Depending on model, Aegis cases include one or more locking points and integral handles. More information on these specific details can be found in the description area in the table below.

Aegis cases can be customized with an engraved logo plate, custom molded interiors, foam inserts, and custom color, making this line of cases extremely adaptable for various purposes and uses.
